

Sheel Mehta – RUMS Secretary

RUMS is one of the most dynamic medical schools to be part of, offering great opportunities to train with some of the most experienced specialists in the medical field. However, as we all know, no medical school is perfect and so there are always new ways that can be addressed to make the RUMS experience an even more fulfilling one. There is no one better to put forward suggestions to make the experience a more rewarding one than a member of the student body who experiences it every day in and out and so as RUMS Secretary I am campaigning for various issues that I hope will help to even further improve our experience of RUMS.

Education

- Ensure that there is excellent communication between all the clinical sites so that positive aspects of teaching at individual sites can be picked up and implemented at the other sites to ensure a high level of teaching at all the sites.

Communication

- Ensure that there is excellent communication between students at all the sites so that students do not feel disconnected from the central cohort when they are away from the main campus.

Publicity

- Ensure that all publicity material regarding medical events is well distributed so that students are always informed of RUMS events, something that is not always the case at the moment.
- Ensure that the medical newsletter is produced to the highest degree so that medics are kept well informed of the going ones and developments happening in the RUMS environment.
